Dear Fans,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2016-17 American Hockey League season. The AHL was founded in 1936, and for the past eight decades we have established a tradition of excellence that continues today in 30 cities across North America.

We are coming off one of the greatest AHL seasons ever, highlighted by welcoming five great California fan bases to the league, as well as our return to Winnipeg. Records fell all year long, from Roy Sommer becoming the winningest coach in league history, to Michael Leighton setting the career mark for shutouts, to more than 7.1 million fans attending games -- the largest turnout in our 80-year history. The campaign ended in most memorable fashion as the Calder Cup returned to Cleveland for the first time in 52 years with more than 19,000 fans packing the "Q" for the championship clincher.

The AHL remains proud of its role in developing more than 88 percent of today's National Hockey League players, as well as a vast majority of the NHL's coaches, managers, training staffs, on-ice officials, broadcasters, and other executives. In total, 377 AHL players were recalled to the NHL last season alone, and more than 250 former first- and second-round NHL draft picks developed their skills in the AHL. And through the years, our great fans have enjoyed cheering for more than 100 future members of the Hockey Hall of Fame, and have witnessed the triumphs of more than 100 Calder Cup champions who would go on to have their names engraved on the Stanley Cup as well.

To our new fans in Tucson and to all of you who cheer for AHL teams from coast to coast, we are excited to have you join us for another terrific year. On behalf of all of our teams, players and staff, thank you again for your continuing support of the AHL.

Sincerely,

David A. Andrews
President & Chief Executive Officer
American Hockey League

DAVID A. ANDREWS

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Entering his 23rd season as President and CEO of the American Hockey League in 2016-17, David Andrews remains one of the most influential executives in hockey and all of minor professional sports. He has guided the AHL into unequalled times of prosperity, seeing record levels of attendance and exposure while expanding its geography across the United States and Canada.

Under Andrews' leadership, the AHL has redefined itself as the sole primary development league for the National Hockey League, serving all 30 NHL organizations. More than 88 percent of all NHL players and every current NHL referee have now come through the AHL. Andrews continues to manage countless relationships with cities, owners and NHL affiliates to grow and maintain the AHL through challenging economic times. In 2001, he led one of the largest expansion efforts ever in pro sports -- a complex enterprise of bringing six new cities into the AHL as the rival International Hockey League folded. And in 2015, Andrews brought to a successful outcome the complex process of relocating teams into five markets in California, an enterprise which will continue to develop and strengthen the game on the Pacific coast.

Andrews has also contributed to the growth of hockey by working closely with the NHL on rules innovations -- such as hybrid icing and 3-on-3 overtime play -- and player safety initiatives including mandatory visors for all skaters.

The AHL's footprint has grown dramatically during Andrews' tenure, with successful franchises throughout North America and in major markets such as Chicago, Toronto, Cleveland, Milwaukee, San Antonio, Charlotte, Austin, San Diego and San Jose. Andrews has also worked to ensure the league's continuing success in smaller historical and traditional markets like Rochester, Springfield, Hershey, Syracuse, Providence and Binghamton.

League attendance has climbed dramatically under Andrews' leadership, more than doubling from 2.9 million in the final season before his term began in 1994 to an all-time record of more than 7.1 million in 2015-16.

The league and its teams -- in the regular season and in marquee events like outdoor games, the annual AHL All-Star Classic and the Calder Cup Playoffs -- have been showcased to audiences worldwide during Andrews' tenure on television (through the years airing on national networks such as Sportsnet, CBC, TSN, NHL Network, ESPN2 and CBS Sports Network), on satellite radio and on the Internet through live on-line video streaming. Andrews was instrumental in re-introducing the All-Star Classic in 1995 after a 35-year absence, and coordinated the unique 2014 event that saw the AHL's best host renowned Swedish club team Färjestad BK in St. John's.

As a result of Andrews' direction and leadership, the AHL boasts an impressive list of corporate partners who have used the growing AHL as an effective tool for marketing their products and services, highlighted by a historic partnership with Reebok that has become the foundation for the league's marketing, licensing and on-ice branding strategies.

In recognition of his accomplishments, Andrews was named a 2010 recipient of the prestigious Lester Patrick Trophy, presented annually for contributions to hockey in the United States. He has also been honored with induction into the British Columbia Hockey Hall of Fame in 2005, and the Nova Scotia Sport Hall of Fame in 2006.

A native of Nova Scotia, Andrews assumed his duties as AHL President in July of 1994. He came to the league office with a first-hand knowledge of the AHL, having served as the Edmonton Oilers' director of AHL operations for seven years, building the Cape Breton Oilers franchise into one of the most successful AHL clubs both on and off the ice. The Oilers captured the 1993 Calder Cup championship and missed the playoffs only once in six seasons. The Oilers set a league record with 36 sellouts during the 1990-91 season, and they sold out 118 games in a four-year span from 1989-93. Andrews received the 1990 James C. Hendy Award as the AHL's outstanding executive.

Prior to joining the Oilers, Andrews was employed by the government of Canada as a senior consultant with SportCanada. In that position, he was responsible for providing direction to five national Winter Olympic sport organizations in the development of the national team for the 1988 Winter Olympic Games in Calgary. Andrews' hockey background includes serving as head coach and director of hockey operations for the Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League from 1982-84, and he served as an assistant coach for the Cougars when they represented the WHL in the 1981 Memorial Cup. He has also served as head coach of the 1982 Canadian National Under-18 Program.

Andrews was the Hockey Development Coordinator for the Province of British Columbia from 1975-80. He served 10 years on the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's Developmental Council and was chairman of the coaching committee for CAHA during that time. During his playing days as a goaltender, Andrews was a conference all-star and MVP at both Dalhousie University and the University of British Columbia. He played four years professionally for RAAK in the Dutch first division.

Andrews and his wife, Marleen, have three children -- Chrissy, Brad and Jeff -- and four grandchildren.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE

THE BEGINNINGS

Marking its 81st season of play in 2016-17, the American Hockey League is continuing a tradition of excellence that began in 1936 when the Canadian-American Hockey League merged with the International Hockey League to form what is today known as the AHL. Eight teams hit the ice that first season, playing in Buffalo, Cleveland, New Haven, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Providence, Springfield and Syracuse.

Frank Calder, the National Hockey League's president at the time, was instrumental in the forming of the new league, and his name would be given to its championship trophy. The first Calder Cup was won by the Syracuse Stars in 1937; the 80th championship was captured by Cleveland's Lake Erie Monsters last spring.

From those roots, the American Hockey League has grown into a 30-team league that provides fans with exciting, high-level professional hockey while preparing thousands of players, coaches, officials, executives, trainers, broadcasters and more for careers in the NHL.

THE PLAYERS

In today's National Hockey League more than 88 percent of the players are AHL alumni, including 2016 Vezina Trophy recipient Braden Holtby of the Washington Capitals. The 2016 Stanley Cup champion Pittsburgh Penguins were stocked with AHL graduates as well, among them 2015 AHL Rookie of the Year Matt Murray and standouts Conor Sheary, Bryan Rust and Tom Kuhnhackl, who all helped the Penguins to the championship after being called up from Wilkes-Barre/Scranton during the season.

During the 2015-16 season, a total of 880 AHL alumni played in the National Hockey League. There were 377 players who skated in both leagues last year alone, including 2016 NHL All-Rookie Team selections John Gibson of the Anaheim Ducks (San Diego Gulls) and Shayne Gostisbehere of the Philadelphia Flyers (Lehigh Valley Phantoms).

In addition, more than 250 former first- and second-round draft picks developed their skills in the AHL last season, including William Nylander, Mikko Rantanen, Jakub Vrana, Anthony Mantha, Sonny Milano and Shea Theodore.

THE COACHES

At the start of the 2016-17 season, the National Hockey League featured 23 head coaches who were former AHL bench bosses, including 2016 Calder Cup champion Jared Bednar of the Colorado Avalanche, Jack Adams Award winner Barry Trotz of the Washington Capitals and Stanley Cup winner Mike Sullivan, who was promoted from Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in December. Vancouver's Willie Desjardins, Detroit's Jeff Blashill, Tampa Bay's Jon Cooper and Minnesota's Bruce Boudreau are also recent Calder Cup winners, and Stanley Cup champions Joel Quenneville, Claude Julien, Dan Bylsma and Mike Babcock also spent time in the AHL before making the jump.

"[The AHL] is necessary for development. It's a great league and a lot of great players are down there. I wouldn't be here if it weren't for those years of improvement and learning, so I'm grateful for it."

2016 Vezina Trophy winner
2010 Calder Cup champion

THE LEGENDS

For the past eight decades, the American Hockey League has been home to some of the greatest players in the history of our sport. In fact, more than 100 honored members of the Hockey Hall of Fame have been affiliated with the AHL during their careers. All-time greats like George Armstrong, Toe Blake, Gump Worsley, Terry Sawchuk, Glenn Hall, Brad Park, Ken Dryden, and Brett Hull came through the AHL ranks and now find themselves enshrined in Toronto, and the coveted Calder Cup is inscribed with the names of legendary AHL alumni like Patrick Roy, Larry Robinson, Gerry Cheevers, Andy Bathgate, Tim Horton, Al Arbour, Emile Francis, Doug Harvey, and Billy Smith.

The American Hockey League has created its own legends as well, and in 2006 began honoring them with the formation of the AHL Hall of Fame. The 11th class of inductees, recognized in 2016, included Bruce Cline, Ralph Keller, J.F. Labbe and Bruce Landon. They join the likes of Johnny Bower, Fred Glover, Jody Gage, Mitch Lamoureux, Willie Marshall, Frank Mathers, Eddie Shore, Bruce Boudreau, Zellio Toppazzini, and others as distinguished members of the American Hockey League Hall of Fame.

THE FANS

More fans attended AHL games in 2015-16 than in any other season in the league's 80-year history, topping 7.1 million total and over 6,000 average per game between the regular season and playoffs combined. The Hershey Bears led the league for the 10th year in a row, averaging 9,790 fans per home game, while the Utica Comets sold out every one of its games at the Utica Memorial Auditorium. The season ended with 19,665 fans packing Quicken Loans Arena in Cleveland for the Monsters' Calder Cup clinching win -- the largest crowd ever for a pro hockey game in Ohio.

Fans are also continuing to follow their teams and the league in record numbers digitally. Last season, the AHL Internet Network -- featuring TheAHL.com and the official Web sites of all 30 clubs -- continued to serve fans worldwide, while more than 2.5 million fans follow the AHL and its teams on social media platforms like Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

Over 7.1 million fans attended AHL games in 2015-16, the most in the league's 80-year history.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE

Dear AHL Fans:

On behalf of our entire National Hockey League family, I extend best wishes to the American Hockey League's clubs, players and fans for another successful season in 2016-17.

CALDER CUP (AHL PLAYOFF CHAMPION)

Calder

The Calder Cup, the American Hockey League's ultimate prize, is named after the National Hockey League's first president, Frank Calder.

Mr. Calder was instrumental in the formation of the AHL in the mid-1930's and served as president of the NHL until his death in 1943.

The Calder Cup, which gained its current design in 2001, is awarded annually to the AHL playoff champion.

The names of the players, coaches and support staff from the 20 most recent winners adorn the base; the plaques containing all previous years' champions are on display at the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. For a complete list of winners, see the Calder Cup Playoffs section of this guide.

Canning

Richard Canning served the AHL for over 50 years and is best remembered as the "father" of the league's Constitution, By-Laws and Regulations.

He began his hockey career in 1938 as a legal advisor to long-time friend and owner of the Providence Reds, Louis A.R. Pieri. He then joined the League in 1957 as executive vice president.

The following year, Mr. Canning was named President of the AHL, a position he held until 1961. In 1974, he returned as vice president and general counsel, where he worked until 1990.

Established in 1990, the Richard F. Canning Trophy was originally awarded to the Northern Division (1990-95) and Northern Conference (1996-97) playoff champions, and has gone to the Eastern Conference playoff champions since 1998.

Clarke

Robert W. Clarke played an instrumental role in the formation of the Rochester Americans when, in 1956, he recruited a group of Rochester businessmen to be 45% owners of the team, becoming partners with the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Mr. Clarke became involved with the American Hockey League itself when he was appointed Chairman of the Board of Governors in 1967, a post he held through 1994.

In recognition of his achievements, Mr. Clarke received the James C. Hendy Memorial Award in 1972 and 1993 as an outstanding league executive.

The Clarke Trophy has been awarded to the Western Conference playoff champions since 1998.

Instituted by the AHL Board of Governors in 1997, the Macgregor Kilpatrick Trophy is presented annually to the league's regular-season champion.

JOHN B. SOLLENBERGER TROPHY (LEADING SCORER – REGULAR SEASON)

Sollenberger

The John B. Sollenberger Trophy is presented annually to the player who has scored the most points during the regular season. First named after Wally Kilrea, who originally held the AHL's single season scoring record, it was renamed for Carl Liscombe, who broke Kilrea's record. In 1955, the league's Board of Governors voted to name the trophy after John Sollenberger, a longtime contributor to the AHL as manager and president of the Hershey Bears and former president and chairman of the Board of Governors of the American Hockey League.

Chris Bourque of the Hershey Bears tallied 80 points (30 goals, 50 assists) in 72 games in 2015-16 to become just the eighth player in AHL history to lead the league in scoring more than once in his career.

Robbie Russo

Grand Rapids' Robbie Russo, the CCM/AHL Player of the Week for the period ending Feb. 28, 2016 and a Second Team AHL All-Star selection, finished his rookie season with a league-best plus-40 rating while setting a Griffins record for first-year defensemen with 39 points.

ALL-STAR TEAMS

From the 1937-38 season through 1944-45, AHL All-Star teams and coaches were selected in a league-wide poll of players. Starting with the 1945-46 season, All-Star teams were selected solely by the media. Beginning in 1996-97, an AHL All-Rookie Team was selected as well.

From 1972-2007, two ballots, one representing the media and one representing the vote of the players, were submitted by each AHL city and weighed equally. Since 2007-08, a third ballot, representing AHL coaches from each city, has also been submitted.

Mike Sislo

In his sixth professional season, Mike Sislo had a career year in 2015-16, culminating in a selection as a Second Team AHL All-Star. Sislo set career highs with 27 goals, 26 assists and 53 points with Albany, and scored his first two NHL goals in New Jersey's 7-4 win over Minnesota on Mar. 17.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Canadian-American Hockey League and the International Hockey League merge in 1936, forming the International-American Hockey League (the "International" would be dropped from the name in 1940).

The IAHHL begins with franchises in Providence, New Haven, Philadelphia, Springfield, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Buffalo. Maurice Podoloff, who would later serve simultaneously as president of the National Basketball Association, is named the league's first president, a position he will hold for 16 years.

The Buffalo Bisons last just 11 games into the league's first season after their rink burns down, forcing them to suspend operations. The Syracuse Stars go on to capture the first Calder Cup championship.

In 1937-38 Fred "Bun" Cook earns the first of his seven Calder Cup titles as a head coach by leading the Providence Reds to the championship. The Hershey Bears join the AHL in 1938, followed by Indianapolis in 1939. Another notable newcomer that year is future Hall of Famer Eddie Shore, an active player with the Boston Bruins, who buys the Springfield Indians and manages to play for both teams. Cleveland Barons owner Al Sutphin carries out a bold promotion by giving away an automobile at each home game, and the arena on Euclid Avenue is soon packed to the rafters.

Buffalo returns to the AHL when the Auditorium is constructed in 1940. The Cleveland Barons win the 1941 Calder Cup led by Les Cunningham, the league scoring champion and a five-time AHL All-Star.

In February 1942, the AHL holds an All-Star Game to raise funds for the war efforts in the United States and Canada. Springfield is forced to suspend operations in 1942-43 because its arena is taken over by the United States Quartermaster for use during World War II. Eddie Shore moves his players to Buffalo and takes control of the franchise. Buffalo goalie Gordie Bell posts nine shutouts and leads the Bisons to the Calder Cup in 1943, their first of two straight titles.

Eddie Shore severs his partnership with Buffalo and operates a team in New Haven in 1945-46, then returns to Springfield in 1946-47. Cleveland Barons sniper John Holota becomes the first player in AHL history to score 50 or more goals when he nets 52 during the 1946-47 season. A year later, Carl Liscombe (118) and Cliff Simpson (110) become the first pro players ever to top the 100-point mark.

Cleveland and Buffalo dominate the 1940's each winning three Calder Cup championships. The Barons win six division titles and go to the Calder Cup Finals five times in the decade.

Cincinnati joins the AHL in 1949-50, but it is the Indianapolis Capitals who are the talk of the league. Led by future Hall of Fame goaltender Terry Sawchuk, the Capitals roll through the playoffs unbeaten to claim their first Calder Cup championship.

A young Johnny Bower leads Cleveland to the 1951 Calder Cup. Bower will win three consecutive AHL MVP awards prior to his Hall of Fame NHL career. Tim Horton and Frank Mathers lead Pittsburgh to the Calder Cup in 1952. Eddie Shore moves his Springfield team to Syracuse to the new Onondaga County War Memorial, only to return to Springfield in 1954.

The All-Star Game returns in October 1954, with a team of AHL stars facing the defending champion Cleveland Barons. The Rochester Americans take the ice in 1956-57 and promptly go to the Calder Cup Finals where they lose to Cleveland. Frank Mathers moves from Pittsburgh to Hershey and leads the Bears to consecutive championships in 1958 and 1959. When the Quebec Aces join the league in the fall of 1959 the AHL has its first Canadian-based team.

The Springfield Indians open the 60's by winning three straight Calder Cups and star center Bill Sweeney wins three straight AHL scoring titles, two feats that have yet to be duplicated. Pittsburgh returns to the AHL in 1961, then leaves again to join the NHL in 1967. The Cleveland Barons win the last of their nine Calder Cup championships in 1964. Jack Riley becomes AHL president in 1964; two years later he will leave to run the Pittsburgh Penguins. His successor in the league office is Jack Butterfield, general manager of the Springfield Indians; Butterfield will serve as AHL president until 1994.

Rochester wins three titles in a four-year span, with future NHL coaches Al Arbour, Don Cherry and Gerry Cheevers leading the way on the ice. The Pittsburgh Hornets prevent Rochester from winning four straight titles when they beat the Amerks in the 1967 Finals, but Rochester bounces back to end their run with a Calder Cup in 1968.

Following the 1967-68 season, Fred Glover retires to take over as head coach of the NHL's Oakland Seals. At the time, Glover leaves the AHL as the league's all-time leader in games played, goals, assists and points and with five Calder Cup championships to his credit.

In 1969, under the direction of Montreal GM Sam Pollock, the Canadiens become the first NHL team to buy an AHL franchise (Montreal Voyageurs).

The Buffalo Bisons win their fifth and final Calder Cup in 1970, then give way to the NHL's Sabres. The 1970-71 Springfield Kings, led by Butch Goring and Billy Smith, become the first team in league history to win the Calder Cup after posting a losing record during the regular season. In the summer of 1971, the Montreal Voyageurs move to Halifax, N.S., where they capture the Calder Cup in 1972. Willie Marshall eclipses Fred Glover's four major league records and retires as the AHL's all-time leading scorer in 1972, with 523 goals, 852 assists and 1,375 points in 1,205 games over 20 seasons.

The Cincinnati Swords are the class of the league, rolling to the 1973 Calder Cup. The Springfield Kings become the Indians again in 1974-75 and go on to win another championship. Nova Scotia rebounds to win back-to-back titles in 1976 and 1977, and with the Montreal Canadiens winning consecutive Stanley Cups, it marks the first two times an organization captures the Calder and Stanley Cups in the same season.

President Jack Butterfield guides the AHL through difficult times in the decade, and the league survives NHL expansion and the appearance (and disappearance) of the World Hockey Association. After just six teams play in 1976-77, the AHL adds franchises in Portland, Binghamton, Philadelphia, Hampton Roads, Moncton, Glens Falls and Syracuse over the next three years. The Maine Mariners win the Calder Cup in 1977 and 1978, becoming the only team in AHL history to win the title in each of its first two seasons.

The Adirondack Red Wings win the Calder Cup in just their second season (1980-81). Under head coach Mike Keenan, Rochester defeats Maine for the 1983 Calder Cup; a year later, Maine defeats Rochester for the Calder Cup giving the Mariners three championships in their first seven seasons. The Sherbrooke Canadiens capture the 1985 title behind 19-year-old rookie goaltender Patrick Roy.

In 1986, Paul Gardner becomes the first player in over 20 years to win consecutive AHL scoring titles, while Adirondack, led by Adam Oates and head coach Bill Dineen, captures its second Calder Cup. Brett Hull explodes into the AHL with Moncton in 1987, scoring 50 goals and winning the Dudley "Red" Garrett Award as AHL's top rookie. The AHL employs a shootout to break ties in 1986-87. The Hershey Bears win the 1988 Calder Cup, rolling through the postseason unbeaten (12-0).

The 1988-89 Sherbrooke Canadiens help rewrite the league's scoring records, thanks to rookie Stephan Lebeau, who posts 134 points and 70 goals. Lebeau's linemate Benoit Brunet sets a rookie record with 76 assists. But Adirondack closes out the decade with its third championship in nine years, along the way becoming the second team in AHL history to erase an 0-3 deficit to win a best-of-seven playoff series.

The Springfield Indians win back-to-back championships, first as the New York Islanders' affiliate in 1990 and then as the Hartford Whalers' affiliate in 1991, with Jimmy Roberts at the helm both times. Adirondack wins its fourth Calder Cup in 1992, defeating the first-year St. John's Maple Leafs in a memorable seven-game Finals series in which the road team wins every game.

The Binghamton Rangers establish an AHL record with 124 standings points (57-13-10) in 1992-93, while Rangers forward Don Biggs sets the AHL single-season scoring mark with 138 points and rookie goaltender Corey Hirsch dazzles with a 35-4-5 record and a league-best 2.79 GAA. But Bill McDougall smashes Calder Cup records by posting 26 goals and 52 points in just 16 games to lead the Cape Breton Oilers to the 1993 Calder Cup championship.

The AHL returns to Providence in 1992 and to Portland in 1993, where the Portland Pirates win the Calder Cup in their first season behind playoff MVP Olaf Kolzig. After 28 years as league president, Jack Butterfield retires from the position and is replaced by David Andrews, GM of the '93 champion Cape Breton Oilers.

The 1994-95 season marks the return of the AHL All-Star Game, the first such event in 35 years. Albany wins the '95 Calder Cup, sweeping Fredericton in the Finals. The AHL is aligned into four divisions and two conferences for the first time in 1995-96, and teams receive a point for an overtime loss, a policy later adopted by the NHL. The All-Star Classic is held in Hershey as the league adds a Skills Competition to the All-Star Game. Rochester captures its sixth Calder Cup, defeating Portland in a seven-game Final.

The first-year Philadelphia Phantoms compile the league's best record in 1996-97, but Hershey claims the eighth Calder Cup in team history by defeating Hamilton in the Finals. A year later, Philadelphia's Peter White becomes the first player in 12 years to win back-to-back scoring titles and leads the Phantoms to a Calder Cup championship of their own.

Under rookie head coach Peter Laviolette, the Providence Bruins master an incredible 70-point turnaround in 1998-99, winning 56 games in the regular season and capturing the Calder Cup just one season removed from a 19-54-7 outing. The AHL tests a four-on-four format in regular-season overtime, and adopts the policy the following year.

The Hartford Wolf Pack, who moved into Connecticut's capital when the NHL's Whalers departed in 1997, capture the city's first-ever pro hockey championship in 1999-2000 as John Paddock becomes the first head coach to win Calder Cups with three different teams. A year later, the Saint John Flames capture the Calder Cup, bringing the title back to Canada for the first time since 1993.

The 2001-02 season is one of the most memorable in league history for a wide range of reasons. The year begins on a tragic note, as AHL alumni Ace Bailey and Mark Bavis are among the victims of the 9/11 terrorist attacks in New York City. Membership jumps to 27 teams and the geography of the league changes dramatically with the additions of nine teams, including six from the now-defunct International Hockey League. An incredibly competitive regular season ends with the top 17 teams separated by just 12 points, and the Chicago Wolves, 16th overall in the regular season standings, capture the Calder Cup in their first season in the AHL.

Bolstered by a dual affiliation with Montreal and Edmonton and featuring future NHLers like Mike Komisarek, Michael Ryder, Marc-Andre Bergeron, Tomas Plekanec, Ty Conklin, Ron Hainsey, Raffi Torres, Jarret Stoll and AHL MVP Jason Ward, Hamilton dominates the 2002-03 regular season before being derailed by Houston in a classic seven-game Finals series. Springfield captain Rob Murray becomes the sixth player ever to skate in 1,000 AHL games. In 2003-04, a record number of shutouts (210) highlights the "year of the goaltender," and Hartford backstop Jason LaBarbera claims the Les Cunningham Award as the AHL's MVP. Milwaukee finishes first overall in the regular season and then captures the Calder Cup with a convincing sweep of Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, the first league championship in franchise history.

The NHL's lockout of 2004-05 provides the AHL with some of its brightest young talent ever. Jason Spezza rolls to the scoring championship racking up 117 points for Binghamton, while Rochester's Ryan Miller becomes the AHL's first 40-game winner in four decades. The shootout is re-introduced to decide a winner of games tied after overtime. And the league experiences its largest numbers ever at the gate, with more than 7.1 million fans attending games throughout North America, including several contests in NHL arenas. Philadelphia, which set an AHL record with a 17-game winning streak earlier in the season, sweeps Chicago to win the Calder Cup championship, clinching the title before 20,103 fans at the Wachovia Center, then the second-largest crowd in AHL history.

Several facets of the NHL's new rules package are adopted by the AHL, which marks its 70th anniversary in 2005-06. Wilkes-Barre/Scranton storms out to the best start in league history by earning a point in its first 23 games (20-0-2-1). Donald MacLean and Denis Hamel tie for the league lead with 56 goals apiece, and Houston's Patrick O'Sullivan pots 47 en route to outstanding rookie honors. Hershey, which missed the playoffs the previous two seasons, captures its record-tying ninth Calder Cup with a six-game win over Milwaukee in the Finals.

The Bears seem destined to repeat as champions in 2006-07, finishing with a league-best 114 points in the regular season. Darren Haydar sets an AHL record by recording a point in 39 consecutive games, while Chicago teammate Brett Sterling scores 55 goals, the most by an AHL rookie in 16 years. But the Wolves and Bears both fall in the playoffs to the upstart Hamilton Bulldogs and Carey Price, who duplicates Patrick Roy's feat from 22 years earlier and leads Montreal's affiliate to a Calder Cup champion as a 19-year-old goaltender fresh out of junior hockey.

Chicago comes back in 2007-08 and wins its second Calder Cup, holding off Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in six games in the Finals. Wolves forward Jason Krog becomes just the third player to lead the AHL in goals, assists and points in the same season, then duplicates the feat in the playoffs. After leading Hershey to back-to-back Finals appearances, Bruce Boudreau is promoted by the Washington Capitals in mid-season and goes on to capture the Jack Adams Award as the NHL's coach of the year.

Hershey reaches the Calder Cup Finals for the third time in four years in 2008-09 and wins its record 10th championship with a six-game series victory over Manitoba. Bears forward Alexandre Giroux sets a league record by scoring a goal in 15 straight games, and winds up the fifth AHL player ever to score 60 in a season. Head coach Dan Bylsma is promoted from Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in February and leads the Pittsburgh Penguins to the Stanley Cup.

The first-ever outdoor game in AHL history highlights the 2009-10 season, as the Syracuse Crunch draw a league-record 21,508 fans to the New York State Fairgrounds for a meeting with the Binghamton Senators. The Hershey Bears set records with 60 victories and a 24-game home winning streak in the regular season, and Bears forwards Keith Aucoin and Alexandre Giroux are the league's top two scorers for the second year in a row, with Aucoin nabbing his first scoring title and Giroux hitting the 50-goal mark for the second straight season. In the playoffs, the first-year Texas Stars reach the Finals after winning a pair of Game 7's in Chicago and Hamilton, but fall to Hershey as the Bears become the AHL's first repeat champions since 1991.

While the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins cruise through the 2010-11 regular season with 58 wins, the rest of the league engages in several tight races down the stretch. The Binghamton Senators qualify for the playoffs via the crossover as the fifth-place team in the East Division and earn a historic first-round win over Manchester, erasing a 3-1 series deficit by taking each of the final three games in overtime. The Sens would go on to take out Portland, Charlotte and Houston to earn the first championship in 29 seasons of AHL hockey in Broome County.

The Norfolk Admirals put together one of the greatest seasons in AHL history in 2011-12, garnering headlines around the world with their professional hockey record 28-game winning streak. The Adirondack Phantoms and Hershey Bears battle outdoors at Citizens Bank Park in Philadelphia and more than double the AHL's single-game attendance record when 45,653 fans watch the game. Hamilton hosts Toronto outside at Ivor Wynne Stadium before the largest crowd ever to watch AHL hockey in Canada. Norfolk's Cory Conacher claims both MVP and top rookie honors, and the Admirals roll to their first Calder Cup with a 15-3 playoff record, sweeping Toronto in the Finals.

The first three months of the 2012-13 AHL season are headlined by an even greater influx of young talent in the wake of an NHL work stoppage. Justin Schultz's record pace with the Oklahoma City Barons earns him the Eddie Shore Award as the AHL's outstanding defenseman, and fellow Edmonton Oilers budding stars Jordan Eberle, Taylor Hall and Ryan Nugent-Hopkins also turn hockey's attention to OKC. Abbotsford's Barry Brust breaks Hall of Famer Johnny Bower's 55-year-old record for longest shutout streak. Following an affiliation switch to Syracuse, Tampa Bay's top prospects make a second consecutive trip to the Calder Cup Finals, but the Grand Rapids Griffins -- led by playoff MVP Tomas Tatar -- bring West Michigan its first championship by prevailing in a thrilling postseason run.

Several standout performances highlight the 2013-14 season, including Chicago's Jake Allen leading the league in all four major categories (wins, GAA, save percentage and shutouts) and Toronto's T.J. Brennan scoring 25 goals and totaling 72 points from the blue line. But Travis Morin earns both regular-season and playoff MVP honors and wins both scoring titles as the Texas Stars go wire-to-wire, finishing with the best record in the league before capturing the franchise's first Calder Cup.

Wilkes-Barre/Scranton rookie Matt Murray sets several records during the 2014-15 season, including the longest shutout streak ever by an AHL goaltender (304:11), and his 1.58 GAA and 12 shutouts are both the second-best marks in league history. The AHL adopts a new overtime format that includes time played at 3-on-3, bringing even more added excitement to the extra period. The Syracuse Crunch set an all-time attendance record for an indoor pro hockey game in the U.S. as 30,715 fans watch their game at the Carrier Dome. The Lehigh Valley Phantoms are a hit with fans in their first season in Allentown, selling out 22 games at the beautiful new PPL Center. The Utica Comets have a storybook second season in the AHL, from hosting the All-Star Classic in January to reaching the Calder Cup Finals in June. Brian O'Neill wins the regular-season scoring title and MVP honors before helping the Manchester Monarchs capture a bittersweet Calder Cup in their final season in the Queen City.

The AHL's geography changes dramatically in 2015-16 with the formation of a Pacific Division and the addition of five teams in California. The Manitoba Moose also return to the fold, playing out of the MTS Centre as the Winnipeg Jets' top affiliate. Two long-standing league records fall, as San Jose's Roy Sommer passes Bun Cook to become the winningest head coach in AHL history, and Rockford's Michael Leighton surpasses Johnny Bower's mark for career shutouts. The Toronto Marlies dominate the AHL during the regular season while also seeing two dozen players head to the NHL with the parent Maple Leafs. Ontario's Peter Budaj wins 42 games, the most by an AHL goalie in 55 years, and leads the league in wins, GAA, save percentage and shutouts. The AHL's 80th-anniversary season ends with a Finals matchup between two of the league's most tenured cities, and the Lake Erie Monsters complete a 15-2 postseason run with a sweep of Hershey to bring the Calder Cup to Cleveland for the first time since 1964.

AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE HALL OF FAME

Located online at www.ahlhalloffame.com, the American Hockey League Hall of Fame was established in 2006 to recognize, honor and celebrate individuals for their outstanding achievements and contributions specifically in the American Hockey League. Induction ceremonies are held annually as part of the festivities at the AHL All-Star Classic.

The Class of 2016 was inducted in Syracuse, N.Y., on February 1, 2016.

CLASS OF 2016

BRUCE CLINE

Four-time Calder Cup winner Bruce Cline spent 13 seasons in the American Hockey League, making his name as one of the AHL's all-time great scorers.

Making his AHL debut in 1955-56, the Quebec native notched 57 points in 64 games, helping the Providence Reds' turnaround from last-place finisher the year previous to Calder Cup champions. Cline captured the Dudley (Red) Garrett Memorial Award as the AHL's outstanding rookie and played 30 games the following season with the New York Rangers, what would be the only National Hockey League stint of his career.

After three seasons with Providence, Cline skated for the Buffalo Bisons in 1958-59, tallying 61 points in 70 games and reaching the Calder Cup Finals. He then began an impressive four-year run with the Springfield Indians, where he was a key member of the greatest dynasty in AHL history. The Indians won three consecutive championships in 1960, 1961 and 1962, and Cline ranked among the league's top goal-scorers over that time. He was named a First Team AHL All-Star in 1961 and was a Second Team selection in 1963.

Cline joined the Hershey Bears and finished his playing career there, playing five seasons in Chocolatetown. He retired with 321 goals – including eight 20-goal seasons – and 452 assists for 773 points in 823 regular-season games played in the American Hockey League, and was a prolific postseason performer as well: Cline's 89 games and 58 points in Calder Cup Playoff action still rank among the league's all-time leaders.

RALPH KELLER

Ralph Keller was a stalwart defenseman who played parts of 13 seasons in the American Hockey League, becoming a popular and legendary figure thanks to his time with the Hershey Bears.

A native of Wilkie, Sask., Keller had a stint with the Providence Reds in 1957-58 and spent a season with the Baltimore Clippers in 1962-63, but spent the final 11 years of his career in Hershey, where he was one of the AHL's top two-way defensemen of his time. He helped the Bears reach the Calder Cup Finals in 1965, and reached double digits in goals and triple digits in penalty minutes in both 1966-67 and 1967-68 as Hershey won Eastern Division titles.

In 1968-69, Keller racked up 55 points in 74 games and was named a First Team AHL All-Star, then helped the Bears capture the Calder Cup championship. During the 1970-71 season, Keller broke the AHL record for career goals by a defenseman, and in 1972-73 he was named captain of the Bears and earned a spot on the AHL's Second All-Star Team.

Finishing his playing career in 1973-74, Keller notched eight goals, 31 points and 99 penalty minutes in 74 games during the regular season, and later scored the game-winning goal that clinched the 1974 Calder Cup for Hershey.

His number 3 retired by the Bears, Keller is Hershey's all-time leader in games played (737) and points (408) by a defenseman. To this day, he still ranks fourth among all AHL defensemen in scoring with 446 points, and is one of five blueliners in league history to score at least 100 goals (111).

JEAN-FRANCOIS LABBE

One of the most decorated goaltenders of his era, Jean-Francois Labbe starred in the American Hockey League over 10 seasons from 1993 to 2003. A native of Sherbrooke, Que., Labbe was undrafted out of junior hockey and made his AHL debut with the Prince Edward Island Senators, earning the win in his first start. He was acquired by the Colorado Avalanche in 1995, and won 25 games with the Cornwall Aces in the regular season before leading them to a first-round playoff victory over Albany in one of the biggest upsets in Calder Cup history.

With the Hershey Bears in 1996-97, Labbe was dominant. He appeared in 66 games and led the AHL in victories (34), goals-against average (2.55) and shutouts (six), earning the “Baz” Bastien Award as the league’s top goaltender and the Les Cunningham Award as its most valuable player. Labbe continued to shine in the postseason, and the Bears’ march through the playoffs – including classic seven-game series wins over Philadelphia and Springfield – ended in a Calder Cup title.

Labbe had another memorable campaign in 1999-2000 with the Hartford Wolf Pack. He went 27-13-7 for the league-leading Hartford Wolf Pack, ranking fifth in the AHL in both GAA (2.52) and save percentage (.924) to help earn his second career Harry (Hap) Holmes Award for team goaltending. He appeared in his fourth career AHL All-Star Classic, and in a game at Quebec, he became just the fifth goalie in league history to score a goal. After making his long-awaited National Hockey League debut in April, Labbe returned to Hartford for the postseason and backstopped the Wolf Pack to a Calder Cup championship, recording a 2.18 GAA and a .935 save percentage in 22 games and a 5-0 record when facing elimination.

Labbe was acquired by the Columbus Blue Jackets early in the 2000-01 season, and finished his AHL career with two stellar seasons with the Syracuse Crunch. He helped the Crunch to a division title in 2001-02, when he earned a nod as a Second Team AHL All-Star and tied what was then the league record for shutouts in a season with nine.

With a career mark of 202-151-52 in 420 career AHL appearances, Labbe ranks 12th all-time in wins as well as eighth in shutouts (27). He is also fourth all-time in postseason contests by a goaltender (82), and his 46 playoff wins and seven playoff shutouts are both tied for second-most in AHL history.

BRUCE LANDON

A mainstay in the American Hockey League for nearly half a century, Bruce Landon is considered by many to be synonymous with hockey in Springfield, Massachusetts.

The Ontario native was drafted as a goaltender by the Los Angeles Kings in 1969 and joined their AHL affiliate in Springfield that fall, helping the club reach the Calder Cup Finals in 1970 before winning the championship in 1971. He had a brief stints with the Jacksonville Barons and Rhode Island Reds before returning to Springfield in 1977, but a knee injury forced him to retire that December at the age of 28.

Landon immediately took a marketing and public relations position in the Indians’ front office, and he was honored in 1980 with the AHL’s Ken McKenzie Award for outstanding promotion of his club. Landon was named general manager of the Indians in 1982, and in 1989 he was selected the winner of the James C. Hendy Memorial Award as the league’s outstanding executive.

Landon was the GM of Springfield’s back-to-back Calder Cup championship teams in 1990 and 1991, an even more impressive feat considering the titles were won with two different NHL affiliates (New York Islanders, Hartford Whalers). Then in 1994, with the Indians moving to Worcester, Landon helped organize a group of investors and purchased an expansion franchise to keep the American Hockey League in Springfield. He was president and general manager of the Springfield Falcons from their inception in 1994 until stepping down in 2014 but continued to serve the club as director of hockey operations, completing his 39th season as an executive in Springfield in 2015-16.

For his outstanding career contributions to the American Hockey League, Landon received the prestigious Thomas Ebright Award in 2002.

Jake Chelios

Jake Chelios impressed in his debut season with the Checkers, enough so that he earned his first NHL contract. The blueliner set career highs with seven goals, 24 assists and 31 points while skating in 73 games for Charlotte in 2015-16.

Bojangles' Coliseum

Bojangles' Coliseum, operated by the Charlotte Regional Visitors Authority, hosted the first pro hockey game in Charlotte back in 1956 and was home to the Checkers for various points between then and 2005. After $16 million in renovations, the Checkers are returning to the historic building beginning with the 2015-16 season.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Griffins have won at least one playoff series in each of the last four seasons, the AHL's third-longest such streak since the current 16-team playoff format was adopted in 2005.

Van Andel Arena

One of the country's premier concert and sports venues, Van Andel Arena ranked as the second-highest-grossing midsize arena worldwide during the 2000-09 decade, according to Billboard magazine. Built in 1996, the $75-million venue seats 10,834 for hockey and is one of only a handful of arenas on the continent that can switch between the standard North American ice surface and the larger international size. In addition to the Griffins, the arena has hosted a wide variety of sporting events, including the 2004 Pepsi AHL All-Star Classic, ArenaBowl XV, several Detroit Red Wings Red & White Games, NHL and NBA preseason games, NCAA hockey regional finals and the Big Ten women's basketball tournament.

XL Center

The XL Center, managed by Spectra, celebrated 40 years of operation in January 2015 after opening a new chapter in its history by undergoing a $35-million renovation in the summer of 2014. The home of the Hartford Wolf Pack and University of Connecticut men's Hockey East games, and home-away-from-home for the UConn men's and women's basketball teams, sports fully re-done concourses as well as a new "fan club" restaurant/sports bar, scoreboard and club seating areas. Those recently-added features complement the XL Center's over 45 executive suites and Coliseum Club, as Connecticut's premier entertainment destination continues to host more than 1 million guests a year for a wide variety of local, national and international sports and entertainment events, in addition to trade shows, meetings and conferences.

Playing in his first season in North America, Vladislav Kamenev recorded 15 goals and 22 assists for 37 points while skating in 57 games for Milwaukee in 2015-16. He participated in the AHL All-Star Classic and also captained Russia to a silver medal at the 2016 IIHF World Junior Championships.

UW-Milwaukee Panther Arena

The Admirals return to the UW-Milwaukee Panther Arena in 2016, the place they called home from the early 1970's until 1986. One of the first TV-friendly venues in the nation, the building originally known as Milwaukee Arena came of age with rock and roll and later gained fame as the MECCA, a house of champions with a reputation for unparalleled fan intensity and an audacious pop-art basketball floor. A major 1998 renovation readied the building for the 21st century with new technology and enhanced accommodations for both patrons and productions, while retaining its fervor-inducing geometry and super-strong, ready-to-rig ceiling.

Vince Hinostroza

For the first time in team history the IceHogs were led in scoring by a rookie, as center Vince Hinostroza recorded 51 points (18 goals, 33 assists) in 66 games in 2015-16. The Illinois native also made his NHL debut last season, skating in seven games with the Chicago Blackhawks.

DID YOU KNOW?

Tanner Kero reached the 20-goal plateau in 2015-16, becoming the first IceHogs rookie ever to accomplish that feat.

Mile One Centre

Opened in 2001, Mile One Centre is a state-of-the-art facility that has hosted premier events such as the Juno Awards, the Scott Tournament of Hearts women's curling championships, NHL preseason action, two AHL All-Star Classics and the Calder Cup Finals. The arena is located in the heart of downtown St. John's and features a concourse pub, an in-house restaurant, 35 corporate suites, a brand-new video board and a 6,000-square-foot dressing room for the IceCaps. The name Mile One represents many firsts for which Newfoundland is known, including the start of the Trans-Canada Highway and the 1497 landing of John Cabot, who made the first English voyage to North America.

Tanner Richard

Tanner Richard paced the Crunch with 54 points and ranked eighth in the AHL with 43 assists in 2015-16, his third professional season. The Swiss-born center became Syracuse's go-to faceoff man and earned significant power-play time later in the season as well.

War Memorial Arena

When the Onondaga County War Memorial opened in 1951, it was called one of the finest multi-purpose auditoriums in the United States. Its opening was celebrated with a week of ceremonies, festivities and veteran dedications. A complete renovation in 1993, the addition of the Oncenter and the designation of the building as a State and National Landmark have once again returned the building to its prestigious state-of-the-art status.

OVERTIME GAMES

NOTE — In 1995-96, the AHL began awarding one point for an overtime loss. During the 1998-99 season, the league tested the 4-on-4 overtime format and subsequently adopted the policy beginning with the 1999-2000 season. In 2004-05, the AHL added a shootout to resolve regular-season games that were still tied at the end of overtime. In 2014-15, the AHL introduced a 7-minute overtime period that included 3-on-3 play. In 2015-16, overtime was played for 5 minutes at 3-on-3.

DID YOU KNOW?

George Sullivan's single-season record of 119 points had stood for nearly 30 years before four players took aim at it in 1982-83. Baltimore's Mike Gillis fell short with 113 points, Geordie Robertson of Rochester tied the mark of 119 and Bruce Boudreau of St. Catharines passed it (122), but Binghamton's Ross Yates became the new record-holder finishing the season with 125 points.

Derek Ryan

One of many inspirational stories around the league last season, Derek Ryan made his AHL debut at the age of 28 after three seasons of major junior hockey, four years at the University of Alberta and four seasons in Europe. Ryan served as Charlotte's captain, represented the Checkers at the AHL All-Star Classic, led the team in scoring and made his debut in the NHL, scoring two goals in six games with Carolina.

Alan Quine

Alan Quine completed his third pro season with 19 goals and 29 assists in 56 AHL games with Bridgeport, and also made quite an impression during his first call-up to the New York Islanders. He scored a shorthanded goal in his NHL debut vs. Buffalo on Apr. 9, and his double-overtime goal on Apr. 22 at Florida gave the Isles a 3-2 lead in a playoff series they would go on to win in six.

Peter Budaj

After going winless in 19 AHL appearances in 2014-15, Peter Budaj went 42-14-4 for Ontario last season, the most wins in a season by any AHL goalie in the last 55 years. The 14-year pro set a career high in minutes played (3,574) and became just the third netminder since 1984 to lead the AHL in wins, GAA (1.75), save percentage (.932) and shutouts (9) in the same season.

Michael Leighton

With a 5-0 win over Lake Erie on Mar. 5, 2016, Michael Leighton broke a 59-year-old AHL record and earned his 46th career AHL shutout, surpassing Johnny Bower for the most all-time. Leighton finished the year with a 28-8-8 record, a 2.44 GAA and a .918 save percentage, and now sits ninth with 221 career victories in the American Hockey League.

Milwaukee goaltender Juuse Saros tied an AHL record in 2015-16 for the most shootout attempts faced in a season without allowing a goal. Opposing shooters were 0-for-13 against Saros, who tied for the league lead with four shootout wins.

Calder Cup Playoffs
Record Book

THE STORY OF THE CALDER CUP

The coveted Calder Cup has been a motivational force for American Hockey League teams throughout the League's 80-year history. It is one of our sport's greatest challenges and ultimate honors to hoist the Calder Cup in victory.

The trophy is named for Frank Calder, who served as the National Hockey League's first President from 1917 to 1943. During the 1920's, Mr. Calder was instrumental in guiding hockey into the mainstream of America's major cities including Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago, while helping in the formation of the American League.

The Calder Cup trophy itself was actually first awarded in 1938 to the Providence Reds for winning the second International-American Hockey League championship. (In 1996, George Parsons of the Syracuse Stars was presented the Calder Cup in a ceremony at the Onondaga County War Memorial, as it is believed the Stars never received a trophy for their 1937 championship.)

In 2001, the trophy's base was changed to include two tiers of plaques, which feature the rosters of each of the last 20 Calder Cup champions; the plaques from all previous champions are on display in the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. The entire Calder Cup trophy now stands 24 inches tall and weighs 35 pounds. The bowl, made of sterling silver, is 12 inches high and eight inches in diameter. The hardwood base is made of Brazilian mahogany.

A total of 31 different cities have had their AHL member club win the Calder Cup, led by Hershey with 11 and Cleveland with 10 following the Lake Erie Monsters' 2016 championship. Springfield (seven), Rochester (six), Providence (five) and Chicago (two) are the other active cities with more than one title.

Twenty-nine members of the Hockey Hall of Fame have won the Calder Cup in their careers, including Johnny Bower, Terry Sawchuk, Emile Francis, Gerry Cheevers, Al Arbour, Andy Bathgate, Larry Robinson, Doug Harvey, Patrick Roy and 2013 inductee Fred Shero.

Not only have great players won the Calder Cup, but outstanding coaches have also hoisted the AHL's championship trophy. Hall of Famer Fred "Bun" Cook holds the distinction of winning seven Calder Cups in his career; no other AHL head coach has ever won more than three. Current NHL head coaches with Calder Cup titles on their resumes include Barry Trotz (Portland, 1994), John Tortorella (Rochester, 1996), Peter Laviolette (Providence, 1999), Todd McLellan (Houston, 2003), Bruce Boudreau (Hershey, 2006), Jon Cooper (Norfolk, 2012), Jeff Blashill (Grand Rapids, 2013), Willie Desjardins (Texas, 2014) and Jared Bednar (Lake Erie, 2016).

More than 100 players and coaches have won both the Calder Cup and Stanley Cup in their careers, including Ace Bailey, Brian Engblom, Dick Gamble, Butch Goring, Adam Graves, Peter Mahovlich, Kirk Maltby, Ab McDonald, Patrick Sharp, Fred Shero, Brian Skrudland, Jeff Carter, Mike Richards and 2016 Stanley Cup champion Eric Fehr.

Two-time Calder Cup champion Darren Haydar is the AHL's all-time leader in playoff goals (63), assists (80) and points (143), and three-time winner Bryan Helmer has played in more Calder Cup Playoff games (159) than anyone else. Marcel Paille's 49 playoff victories are the most ever by a goaltender, and Bill McDougall set single-season records that may never be broken when he tallied 26 goals, 26 assists and 52 points during the 1993 postseason with the Cape Breton Oilers.

Four men share the honor of having won the most Calder Cups during their playing careers: Bob Solinger, Les Duff, Fred Glover and Mike Busniuk each skated to five titles.

Calder Cup-winning teams have impacted significantly on the success of their NHL parent clubs. On three occasions an AHL club and its NHL affiliate won their league championships in the same year: In 1976 and 1977, the Montreal Canadiens won the Stanley Cup while their AHL affiliate, the Nova Scotia Voyageurs, won the Calder Cup, and in 1995, the Stanley Cup champion New Jersey Devils saw their AHL affiliate, the Albany River Rats, win a title as well. In 2008, the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins and their parent club in Pittsburgh both reached their respective league Finals before bowing out, and in 2015, both the New York Rangers and Hartford Wolf Pack reached the conference finals.

Only one team in 80 years has been able to win the Calder Cup in three consecutive seasons: the Springfield Indians, under the leadership of AHL and Hockey Hall of Famers Eddie Shore and Jack Butterfield, skated to Calder Cup championships in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

In case of a tie in points percentage in the standings (for any position regardless of division) between two teams at the conclusion of the Regular Schedule of Championship Games, the method for determining the order of standings shall be as follows:

- a. The team having won the greater number percentage of games excluding games won in the Shootout in the Regular Schedule of Championship games (regulation and overtime wins divided by total games played).
- b. The team having earned the greater number of points in the season series between the teams tied.
- c. The team having the greater goal differential (goals against subtracted from goals for) in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- d. The team having more goals for in the series between the teams tied.
- e. The team having the higher points percentage (points earned/points available) within its respective conference in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- f. Conference call - Board of Governors.

AMONG THREE OR MORE TEAMS

In case of a tie in points in standings (for any position regardless of division) among three or more teams at the conclusion of the Regular Schedule of Championship Games, the following method for determining the order of standings shall be applied successively:

If the following method results in only two teams tied, at any time during the listed criteria, those remaining teams shall be subject to the original tie breaking system.

- a. The team having won the greatest number percentage of games excluding games won in the Shootout in the Regular Schedule of Championship games (regulation and overtime wins divided by total games played).
- b. The team with the highest points percentage (points earned divided by points available) versus the teams tied.
- c. The team having the greatest goal differential (goals against subtracted from goals for) in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- d. The team having the highest goal differential percentage (goal differential divided by games played) versus the teams tied.
- e. The team having the highest points percentage within its respective conference in the Regular Schedule of Championship Games.
- f. Conference call - Board of Governors.

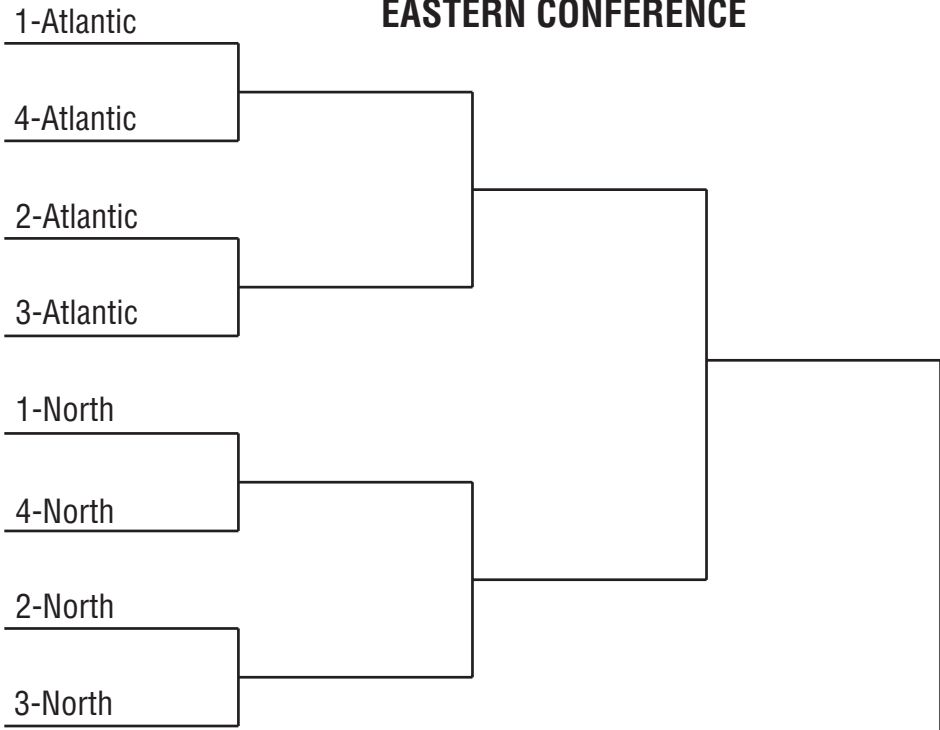

OVERTIME PLAY

In the event of a tie at the end of the regulation playing time, a 15-minute intermission shall be taken followed by 20-minute "sudden death" periods with 15-minute intermissions between each of the periods, which shall be played until the tie is broken. The ice shall be resurfaced during each intermission unless mutually agreed upon to the contrary. Intermissions during regular time shall be the same as during the regular season.

PLAYOFFS (BY GAMES)

Eight months after beginning the season with Wilkes-Barre/Scranton, head coach Mike Sullivan and several of his players were Stanley Cup champions with the Pittsburgh Penguins. Sullivan was promoted to Pittsburgh on Dec. 12 following an 18-5-0-0 start to the AHL season.

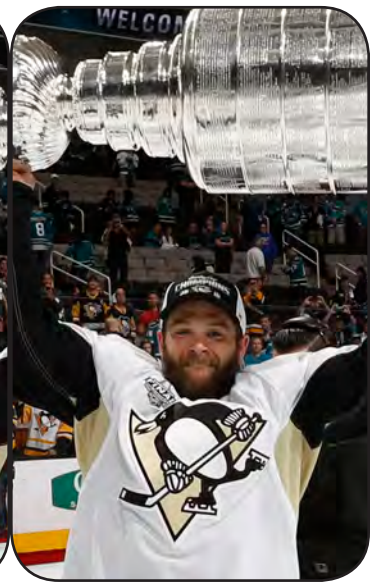

Coming off a spectacular rookie season in the AHL, Matt Murray was en route to being named a Second Team AHL All-Star in 2015-16 when he took over the starting job in Pittsburgh and carried the Penguins to the championship. Murray (20-9-1) was second in the AHL in both GAA (2.10) and save percentage (.931) in 31 games with Wilkes-Barre/Scranton.

Tom Kuhnhackl recorded seven goals and eight assists for 15 points in 23 AHL games with Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in 2015-16 before making his National Hockey League debut on Jan. 9. Kuhnhackl spent the rest of the season with Pittsburgh, skating in 42 regular-season games and all 24 contests during the Stanley Cup Playoffs.

Second-year pro Conor Sheary racked up 36 points in 30 games for Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in 2015-16 after a 45-point campaign as a rookie the previous year. Sheary made his NHL debut with Pittsburgh on Dec. 16, and his postseason heroics included scoring the overtime winner in Game 2 of the Stanley Cup Final at San Jose.

After splitting the 2014-15 season between Wilkes-Barre/Scranton and Pittsburgh, forward Bryan Rust played 16 AHL games in 2015-16 and then became a full-time NHL'er, notching 11 points in 41 regular-season games. Rust's two goals in Game 7 against Tampa Bay gave the Penguins the Eastern Conference championship and propelled them into the Final.
