2019 NHL DRAFT Pre-Draft Notes

2019 NHL DRAFT COULD HAVE STRONG DOSE OF AMERICAN TALENT

With many American players among the top-ranked prospects, a look at some of the country's most successful showings in the NHL Draft:

* Seven American-born players have been selected first overall in the NHL Draft, with Auston Matthews the last in 2016 by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

* Five American-born players have been selected first overall by an American-based team: center Brian Lawton in 1983 (Minnesota North Stars), center Mike Modano in 1988 (Minnesota North Stars), goaltender Rick DiPietro in 2000 (New York Islanders), defenseman Erik Johnson in 2006 (St. Louis Blues) and forward Patrick Kane in 2007 (Chicago Blackhawks).

* Since the seven-round draft was introduced in 2005, the most American-born players selected in one year is 66 (2014).

* Including every NHL draft, the most American-born players selected in one year came in 1987 when 100 were chosen over 12 rounds.

* The most American-born players selected in the first round of any draft is 12, set at the 2016 NHL Draft in Buffalo when Matthews topped the list at first overall. In addition to 2016, three other drafts have seen at least 10 American-born players selected in the first round: 11 in 2007, 10 in 2006 and 10 in 2010.

* At least three American-born players have been selected among the top 10 on six occasions, including two years with four.
